1008	Französische Feldpost zur Zeit des 7-jährigen Krieges 1757–1762 in Deutschland: Ausstellungssammlung gegliedert nach versch. Feldzügen wie der erste Feldzug in Westfalen und Hannover 1757, Feldzug am Niederrhein 1758, Feldzug in Hessen 1758, Feldzug in Westfalen 1759, zweiter Feldzug in Hessen 1760, Winterfeldzug 1761, Feldzug am Oberrhein 1761 sowie vom letzten Feldzug zw. Hessen und Niederrhein 1762. Die Sammlung umfasst insgesamt 125 Briefe und besticht durch ihre Vielfalt der franz. Militärstempel, verwendet im rechts-rheinischem Gebiet. Alle Briefe mit komplettem Inhalt, sauber datiert und mit genauer Ortsbezeichnung, ebenso mehrheitlich komplett transkribiert und übersetzt. Alle Feldpostbriefe sind sauber austaxiert, während ranghöhere Offiziere das Privileg der Portofreiheit hatten. Einige Briefe stammen auch aus dem direkten Umfeld von Schlachten, wobei hier speziell die beiden Briefe aus der Schlacht von Roßbach (5.11.1757 – Sieg Friedrich des Großen gegen Soubise) zu erwähnen sind. Seltene Stempel sind der A.DU.B.RHIN oder ARM.DU.B.RHIN in Rot. Truppenstp. A:DE:SOUBISE (Marschall Soubise) oder R:DE:SOUBISE (R = Reserve), R:DE.BROGLIE der Truppen unter Marschall Broglie wie auch der seltene GOT.A.D.B.RHIN wovon bis heute nur zwei Belege bekannt sind. Auch wurden teils Ortsnamen verwendet wie der sehr seltene Stp. Weitere Stp. sind diejenigen der Reservetruppen wie der seltene R.S.D.S.GERMAIN.B.RHIN, RESR DE LUSACE ARM.DALL (Reserve des Grafen Lusace), RESERVE DE / DARMANTIERE oder RESERVE DE.CONDE und R.S.DUMUY.B.RHIN (Reserve des Grafen du Muy am Niederrhein. Ein aussergewöhnliches Objekt für den historisch interessierten Sammler. *Im Siebenjährigen Krieg von 1756 bis 1763 kämpften mit Preußen und Großbritannien/ Kurhannover auf der einen und der kaiserlichen österreichischen Habsburgermonarchie, Frankreich und Russland sowie dem Heiligen Römischen Reich auf der anderen Seite alle europäischen Großmächte jener Zeit. 1024	Württemberg Sammlung DAS KAPREGIMENT 1784/1808, 22 Briefe und Schriftstücke (Passierscheine) von der ersten Kontaktaufnahme des in Diensten der Niederländisch-Ostindischen Kompanie V.O.C. stehenden Württembergischen Kriegskommissarius Ludwig Friedrich von Knecht betr. Stationierung eines Infanterie-Regiments am Kap der Guten Hoffnung, bis hin zum beschwerlichen Marsch der Württembergischen Truppen nach Holland. Am 1. Oktober 1786 schloss Herzog Carl Eugen von Württemberg mit der Niederländisch-Ostindischen-Kompanie einen Vertrag über militärische Unterstützungsleistungen ab (Subsidien-Vertrag). Für die Aufstellung des Regiments stand nur wenig Zeit zur Verfügung. die dafür benötigte Mannschaft wurde im Herzogtum Württemberg und angrenzenden Reichsstädten geworben und in Ludwigsburg zusammengezogen. Am 2. Mai 1787 wurde das erste Bataillon in Vlissingen (Holland) vereidigt. Die Sammlung beginnt mit einem Brief mit kompl. Inhalt von Ludwig Friedrich Knecht, datiert Vlissingen 16. Juni 1784, dem Kriegskommissare in Diensten der V.O.C. mit Unterschrift an den württemb. Oberst. von Nicolai in Arnheim, darauf folgen zwei eigenhändig geschriebene Briefe von Herzog Carl Eugen (1728-1793) adressiert an Oberst v. Nicolai. Der Durchmarsch der Truppen nach Holland durch die versch. deutschen Fürstentümer erwies sich daraufhin als schwierig. Der Brief vom 21. November von Darmstadt 21. Nov. 1786 nach Stuttgart ermöglicht den herzoglichen 'Rekruten' den Durchmarsch durch Hessen, während in der Pfalz die Truppen gestoppt wurden, gemäss den beiden Briefen vom Speyer 29. November und Frankfurt 10. Dez. 1786 an General Nicolai in Ludwigsburg. Erst im Januar 1788 wird der Durchmarsch über Neckar und Rhein von Pfalzgraf und Kurfürst Karl Theodor gestattet, was im vorliegenden Brief mit papiergedecktem Siegel von München 15. Januar betätigt wird. Im Rheinland wird der Zug jedoch wieder gestoppt: " ... dem Uns gethanen Ansuchen um Durchzug für 200 Mann zur Ergänzung der holländisch Ostindischen Compagnie, wegen der seit einigen Jahre in Unseren Landen gehabten vielen Durchzüge das erwartende Gnügen zu leisten nicht vermögens sind, und Unsere dadurch schon hart getroffenen Unterthanen mit derlei Durchzügen, wenn nicht die höchste Nothwenigkeit und die Reichsgesetze Uns dazu auffordern, gern zu verschonen suchen." so das signierten Schreiben von Maximilian Franz von Österreich, Kurfürst und Erzherzog von Köln an Herzog von Württemberg nach Hohenheim (Bonn 21. Januar 1788). Daraufhin mussten neue Wege gesucht werden, aber auch durch das gebirgige Sauerland gab es kein Durchkommen. Erst im Juni 1788 konnte die Reise weitergehen. Neben den erforderlichen Durchmarschrechten musste auch die Bezahlung für Unterkünfte usw. sichergestellt. werden. Davon zeugt ein Brief eines württemb. Kaufmanns aus Köln, datiert vom 16. Nov. an den Staatsminister Freiherr von Kniestedt in Stuttgart sowie drei Briefe von Middelburg an General von Nicolai betr. div. Geldtransfers und Zahlungsschwierigkeiten der V.O.C. Einmalige Zusammenstellung, sauber aufgezogen auf A3 Blättern, alle Briefe mit kompl. Transkriptionen und Übersetzungen. Von den insgesamt 3'200 aus Württemberg abmarschierten Soldaten, kehrten 1808 nur etwa 100 zurück.			✉ 4'000	(€ 3'600)

The rate of 28 bajocchi shown here was introduced for each 7.5 gr. on 1 January 1858 but only to the port. Mentaschi & Mathà state in their handbook 'Letter Mail from and to the Old Italian States' that it was possible from 1 April 1862 for covers from France to Australia to pre-pay the postage up to the destination but that this option was not available before 1 September 1866 for covers originating in the Papal States. In contrast, this letter demonstrates the possibility to pay the postage not only to the seaport but also to an inland address, although the sequential use of PP and PD marks reflects the uncertainty of the postal clerks in Rome with regard to this fact.
