| Special Viewing | The Jørgen Jørgensen Collection |

In connection with the KPK club meeting on 5 November, Jonas Hällström will visit Copenhagen and bring with him the auction lots from part I (#1559–#1656) of The Jørgen Jørgensen Collection. The lots will be on display at the club premises at Vartov, Farvergade 27B in Copenhagen from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Mail from Denmark to Foreign Destinations during the Skilling Period 1854–1874
The Jørgen Jørgensen Collection (part I)

After completing high school and his military service, Jørgen Jørgensen (1944–2024) began his career with Revisons- og Forvaltnings-Institutet, later working with Schøbel & Marholt and Deloitte. He started his studies to become an accountant in 1965 and, in 1973, earned his state authorisation as a public accountant. In 2005, he celebrated his 40-year anniversary at Deloitte.

Throughout his career, Jørgen worked with major industrial and commercial companies as well as insurance and financial institutions. In the later part of his professional life, he specialised in working with energy companies. He retired shortly before his 70th birthday.

Jørgen's interest in stamp collecting began in the 1950s, inspired by his brother-in-law. In addition to collecting Danish stamps and the early Skilling adhesives, he developed an interest in topical philately (as it was then known), focusing on his leisure passion — fishing, and fish on stamps.

A member of the Copenhagen Philatelist Club (KPK) for 50 years, his contributions to philately were extensive. He served on the KPK board as vice president, a role he also held within the Danish Philatelic Federation. He was a highly respected international FIP judge, team leader, and in 2001 served as president of the International FIP Stamp Exhibition Hafnia 2001 in Copenhagen.

In 2009, Jørgen was elected president of FEPA (Federation of European Philatelic Associations), serving a four-year term until 2013. He received the KPK Medal in 2014 and, in 2015, proudly signed the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists (RDP) in Leeds. The following year he became an honorary member of the Danish Philatelic Federation, and in 2020 he was awarded Denmark's highest philatelic honour — the Denmark Medal.

Danish Mail to Foreign Destinations 1851–1875 was the first exhibit from Denmark of its kind, examining the different mail routes, the complex structure of rates, and their frequent changes. It earned several large gold medals internationally, including at INDONESIA 2012, THAILAND 2013, BRASILIANA 2013, and LONDON 2015. In SINGAPORE 2015, it won the Grand Prix International.

1559 1867 (April 20): Postal stationery Envelope 4 sk. red sent with the Copenhagen Foot Post to Reykjavik Iceland via the Icelandic Postal Department in Copenhagen, struck by "F. P." datestamp of the Footpost / fodpost, datestamp of the Copenhagen Købmagergade post office aside the indicium. Before 1 March 1870, mail from Denmark to Iceland had to be prepaid to the Icelandic Department in Copenhagen for free onward transportation to Iceland. In 1867, this onward transportation was done by the bimonthly Steamer "Arcturus" and this stationery is likely to have been carried on the 28 April 1867 departure, the '43' being presumably a ledger number. One of only three recorded letters prepaid with a stamp or stationery sent to Iceland in the period before 1 March 1870.

Postal Routes to Sweden

1560 'Icepost' to Bornholm via Sweden; 1860ca (March 10): Cover from Copenhagen via Sweden, presumably during the ice winter of 1860 to Nexø on Bornholm Island, bearing two single examples of 1854 dotted spandrels 4 sk. in an orange-brown and in a reddish brown shade, both from the 6th printing, delivered by the printer in June 1859, two fine and fresh adhesives in deep vivid shades with good margins, tied by '1' numeral with matching KIØBENHAVN cds and oval 'delay' datestamp of the following day alongside. The total franking of 8 sk. paid 4 sk. for the Danish part of the journey and 4 sk. for the Swedish transit via Malmø and Ystad. A very rare mailing during the ice winter of 1860, certificate Møller (2004).
Note: In the Baltic Sea ice conditions vary greatly. The annual ice cover is at its greatest between January and March, usually around the end of February/beginning of March, i.e. at the time this cover was despatched. In the period 1761-1860 ice winter severity was clearly increased corresponding to the end of the 'Little Ice Age', associated with increased variability of ice production. In 1915 C. J. H. Speerschneider from the Danish Meteorological Institute compiled alot of evidence regarding past ice conditions in Danish waters and he states for 1860: "On the 13 February the ice began in the Sundet, and on the 21 February the whole Sund was ice-filled.". 4 ✉ 250

1561 1859 (April 9): Double rate Cover from Copenhagen to Stockholm, bearing 1858 wavy spandrels 8 sk. green in a horizontal strip of four, margins from shaved to large, each adhesive tied by '1' numeral in black, matching KIØBENHAVN despatch and HELSINGBORG transit (April 10) cds's alongside. Manuscript "K.T.S." (Kongelig Tjeneste Sag) denotes an official correspondence directed abroad to the Royal Swedish Telegraph Office in Stockholm, a charming cover depicting an attractive way to pay the 32 sk. double rate to Sweden being in force between 15 July 1854 and 30 September 1865, a very scarce official mail to a foreign destination, one of only five covers recorded in this rate, cert. Møller (2006).

1591	Prussia; 1855 (April 25): Entire letter from Copenhagen as part of the famous Heyn correspondence to Danzig, internally dated "Elsineur 24 April 1855", from the second Danish to the third German rayon, bearing 2 RBS Thiele blue (plate II, type 10, sheet position 50) in combination with a strip of five of the 1854 dotted spandrels 4 sk. brown (print 1, plate II) (AFA 2b+4), fresh and fine examples with good to large margins, tied by '1' numeral with matching KIØBENHAVN datestamp alongside. Reverse with "LUEBECK BAHNHOF" transit (April 26) and Danzig distribution (April 27) cds's. Handwritten "3/2" indicates the split of the rate of 22 skilling equal to 5 silbergroschen with 3 sgr. for Prussia and 2 sgr. for Denmark, the weiterfranco is noted in addition in red crayon. The 2 RBS was originally issued in May 1851 to exclusively cover the rate for local postage within Copenhagen. From 15 July 1854, the Post allowed the 2 RBS to be used also on mail to foreign destinations. Therefore, for a brief period, the 2 RBS could be used to pay a few foreign letter rates not dividable by 4 skilling. A total of 14 mixed frankings with 2 RBS have been recorded. A fresh, flawless and most attractive entire showing the correct 22 skilling rate using a 2 RBS adhesive, a high-calibre item with an impressive provenance for a most advanced collection of classic Denmark, signed Bloch & A. Michel — Start price in CHF

1699 1900: Reichspost 1 - 5 Mark in ihrer Erstauflage mit weiter Linienzähnung 11½ und leicht abweichenden Farben auf insgesamt vier Wertbriefen aus dem Jahr 1902, alle tarifgerecht und bis auf die 1 Mk. mit weiteren Marken frankiert von HEIDELBERG bzw. FRANKFURT (MAIN) nach LUDWIGSHAFEN gelaufen. Alle farbfrischen und gut gezähnten Marken befinden sich ebenso wie die Umschläge in einwandfreier Qualität, die rückseitigen Lacksiegel wurden wie üblich entfernt. Dem seinerzeitigen hohen Porto angemessen, befinden sich alle vier Werte jeweils auf wunderschönen Wertbriefen: der 1-Mark-Wert dunkelrot als Einzelfrankatur auf Wertbrief über 4'800 Mark, die schwärzlichblaue 2-Mark-Marke in Mischfrankatur auf Wertbrief über 12'600 Mark, die violettschwarze 3-Mark-Marke in Mischfrankatur auf Wertbrief zu 18'600 Mark und die legendäre 5-Mark-Reichspost schwarz & lilarot in Mischfrankatur auf Wertbrief zu 30'300 Mark. Alle Marken sind farbfrisch, gut gezähnt und befinden sich, wie die Briefe selbst, in einwandfreier Qualität. Bei allen vier Marken handelt es sich um das jeweils einzig überhaupt bekannte Exemplar in gebrauchter Erhaltung - jedes einzelne Stück stellt für sich genommen somit eine Spitzen-Rarität der gesamten Deutschland-Philatelie dar. Jeder Brief rücks. signiert Ernst Stock, je doppelt attestiert Dr. Oechsner BPP (1997) sowie Jäschke-Lantelme BPP (2018).
Bemerkung: Wie auch die Pfennig-Ausgaben wurden die Markwerte vor ihrer offiziellen Einführung in einer von der späteren Massenauflage abweichenden Form abgegeben. Der Unterschied bestand im Wesentlichen in der Zähnung. Im Gegensatz zur späteren Kammzähnung 14¼ beziehungsweise 14½ wies die sehr geringe Erstauflage der Werte zu 1, 2, 3 und 5 Mark eine weite Linienzähnung von 11½ auf. Diese Marken stellen schon in ungebrauchter Erhaltung gesuchte Raritäten dar. Gebraucht oder gar auf Brief potenziert sich ihre Seltenheit. Es ist wahrscheinlich, dass die weite Zähnung, ebenso wie die bekannte fette Inschrift der Erstauflage der Pfennigwerte, als Merkmal zum unmittelbaren Fälschungsschutz eingesetzt wurde (siehe auch Michael Jäschke-Lantelme: 100 Jahre Germania, Dessau 1999; S. 14ff.). Denn mögliche Fälschungen mit weiter Zähnung wären sofort aufgefallen.
Absender / Empfänger der Briefe waren die Chemiker Dr. Richard Laiblin & Emil Kromm, die offensichtlich bei der BASF in Ludwigshafen beschäftigt waren, wenn sie nicht gerade derartige Preziosen produzierten.
Provenienz: Einzeln angeboten bei der 292. Heinrich Köhler Raritäten-Auktion (Februar 1997), als Lose 592 bis 595.

THE EXTRAORDINARY CHARM OF PHILATELY

A Northern Flight

Devlan Kruck
Huddersfield, (United Kingdom)

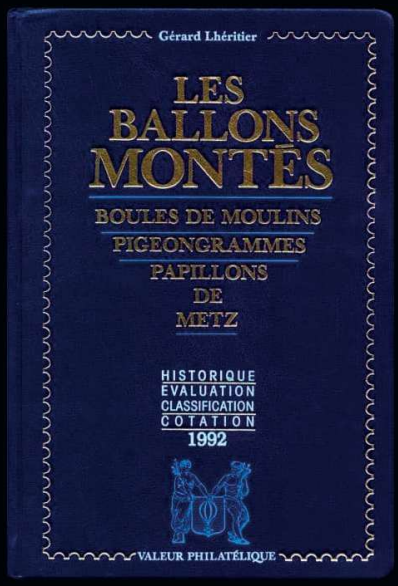

Benjamin Franklin, namesake of the balloon Franklin (launched 27 November 1870), honoured as a statesman, scientist, and the first U.S. Postmaster General.

The Franklin Balloon to Copenhagen

In the cold, pinched days of December 1870, Paris was no longer merely a city. It had become a fortress. Encircled by the iron clamp of the Prussian siege, the French capital lay half-starved, its people hemmed in by cannon and bayonet. The boulevards echoed not with gaiety but with hunger. Horses vanished from the streets to the butcher's blocks, and eventually even the menagerie of the Jardin des Plantes found its way into pots. Yet for all the privations that winter, it was not food alone that Parisians craved. It was connection. For a people who had so long prided themselves on their cosmopolitan ties, the true agony of the siege was silence, the enforced muteness between a city and the wider world. Ordinary letters, news sheets, scraps of communication that stitched families, lovers, and commerce together. All were halted at the city's gates. And so, with the earth barred, Paris looked upwards. It was among the clouds that salvation was contrived.

Contemporary photograph of a Ballon Monté on the streets of Paris — a vital lifeline for communication during the Franco-Prussian War siege.

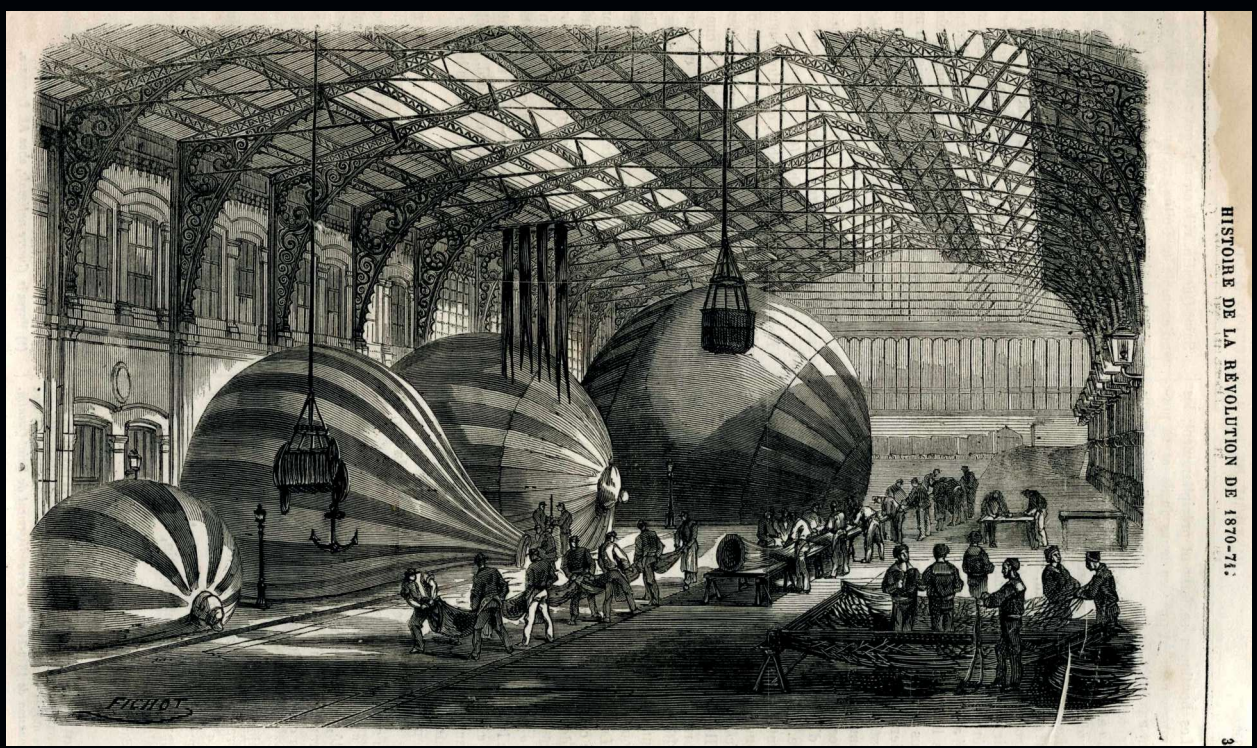

Book cover of Gérard Lhéritier's 1992 reference on Ballons Montés, Boules de Moulins, and siege communications — an essential handbook for collectors and postal historians.

Engraving of the balloon workshop at the Gare d'Orléans, Paris, where siege balloons were sewn and inflated to maintain postal links with the outside world.

The Ballons Montés

The "Ballons Montés" - literally, "balloons mounted" with mail - became the fragile lifeline of the besieged capital. Conceived in desperation but executed with brilliance, these aerial couriers carried not only dispatches of war but the hopes and whispers of a population yearning to be heard. From September 1870 to January 1871, more than sixty such craft rose into the cold air, buffeted by winds they could not steer, entrusted to currents they could not control. They were soap bubbles against the enormity of the Prussian blockade, yet each flight was an act of defiance, a floating declaration that Paris would not be silenced. Among this unlikely fleet was Balloon No. 38: the Franklin. Its name was chosen with deliberation, invoking Benjamin Franklin, the American polymath who had once served as minister to France and dabbled in the sciences of electricity and flight. The association was apt: Franklin himself had mused on the possibilities of balloon navigation after witnessing the Montgolfiers' ascents in the 1780s. Now, in Paris's darkest hour, his name was harnessed for an enterprise equal parts science, desperation, and faith. On December 5, 1870, the Franklin took flight, lifting from the gasworks at Montmartre with its wicker gondola crammed full of newspapers, official dispatches, and, most poignantly, private letters. It was one such piece of correspondence, outwardly ordinary but inwardly remarkable, that has since secured a place not merely in collections but in the mythology of siege postal history.

A Letter Bound North

The cover in question is franked with a single 30 centime Napoléon Lauré brown, the ubiquitous stamp of the time, its laureated effigy almost regal against the plainness of the folded sheet it secures. The adhesive is neatly tied by the Paris Star cancel, complemented by a Rue St. Dominique circular date stamp, like a perfect Parisian echo. A bright red boxed "PD" (Payé à Destination) proclaims its journey fully prepaid. And on the reverse, like the last word in a poem, sits the Copenhagen arrival mark of December 12, 1870. Thus, the letter made its way, not just beyond the Prussian lines but across the breadth of northern Europe, arriving after its aerial leap in Denmark, which is a destination rarely, almost never, seen in the balloon post archives. More astonishing still, the letter was not addressed to some anonymous bourgeois, but to a figure of considerable renown: Abraham Wolff, Chief Rabbi of Copenhagen. Rabbi Wolff (1810–1891) was no obscure provincial cleric but a moderniser of Jewish life in Denmark, a man who translated prayers into Danish and helped fashion a more contemporary Judaism for the Scandinavian community. That he should be a recipient of balloon post adds an unexpected richness: a link between besieged Paris and reformist Copenhagen, stitched together by nothing more than paper, ink, gum, and gasbag.

A rare surviving cover flown by the Ballon Monté Franklin, franked 30c Empire Lauré, addressed to Copenhagen — evidence of international mail escaping Paris under siege. (i)

Surviving entire which was a copy of La Cloche, no. 10, dated November 30, 1870.

A Survivor of Ordeal

Like so many balloon covers, this survivor bears the wounds of its ordeal. Its corners are worn, the adhesive shows a trimmed perforation at the base, and there is light soiling from its voyage. Yet these blemishes are less defects than medals of honour. They are the physical memory of its hazardous passage: borne aloft into hostile skies, dropped beyond the enemy lines, ferried across borders, sorted and handled until it found its way north. That it reached its rabbinical recipient at all is near miraculous. It is, to the best of current knowledge, the only recorded example of balloon mail from La Cloche newspaper addressed to Denmark. In the massive catalogue of balloon post, which runs thick with destinations to provincial France or allied nations such as Belgium and Britain, Copenhagen appears as an outlier - a rarity at the edge of the map. No wonder, then, that the cover is prized. Certified by Calves in 1996, it is listed in the Maury catalogue at over €12,000. But to value it purely in currency is to miss the greater truth: this is an artefact not of paper alone, but of human determination. It is a whisper from December 1870, pressed across time, bearing witness to the tenacity of communication.

The Human Story behind the Stamp

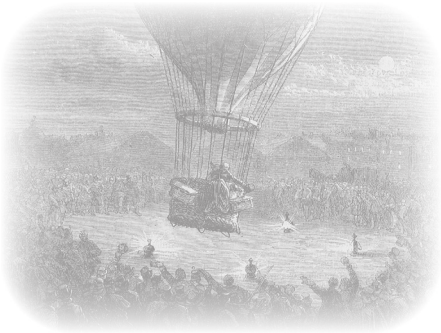

What, we might ask, did Rabbi Wolff think when he received it? Did he marvel at the daring of the balloonists? Did he smile at the very notion that a besieged city had found a way to defy silence? Or did he simply unfold the newspaper within, seeking news of the French capital, news of colleagues or friends? That we do not know. But philately has always thrived on such mysteries which are the tension between the mute object and the human lives it once animated. In this case, a 30-centime brown speaks across the ages, not only of the Franco-Prussian War but of the universal impulse to reach out, to bridge separation, to remain connected.

This, in essence, is the charm of philately. Not merely the paper, ink, and gum, but the narrative freighted upon them. A cover becomes a witness to history, a letter transforms into an artefact, and a stamp is no longer just a portrait of Napoleon but a key to understanding resilience, ingenuity, and even faith. The Franklin's letter to Copenhagen is a reminder that communication, however fragile, is a fundamental human need. In moments of crisis, we turn to the written word not just to inform but to reassure, to assert that we exist, that we endure, that we are not forgotten. And so, the Parisian balloon mail, as improbable as it was, answered a profound yearning. Today, when digital communication renders distance almost invisible, one might think such artefacts quaint. Yet to hold this cover in one's hands, to trace the cancellation, to see the inked "PD" and the Danish arrival, is to feel anew the urgency of that December flight. It is to be reminded that communication was once costly, dangerous, and uncertain; and that those uncertainties imbue every surviving piece with drama.

Epilogue: References and Observations

Balloon post from the Siege of Paris has been extensively catalogued, most notably in the works of J. S. Davis (The Siege of Paris 1870–1871: Balloons, Postal History, and Philately) and in the Maury catalogue. Yet each newly surfaced destination, particularly one as rare as Denmark, adds nuance to the story. Technically, the Franklin's flight was relatively straightforward: launched on 5 December, it landed outside the siege lines near Dreux, from where its mail was gathered and distributed onward. But the singularity of this Copenhagen letter transforms routine into marvel. In a mass of correspondence, one cover alone threaded its way to Scandinavia, bearing the imprint of war, resilience, and the human desire for connection. That is why philately matters. Not because it amasses paper curiosities, but because each piece is a vessel of story, like a fragment of history preserved in miniature. The charm of philately lies precisely in this: that through a stamp, a cancel, a faint arrival mark, we are able to recover not only facts but emotions, not only routes but human voices. The Franklin's northern flight is thus more than postal history. It is a reminder that even in the darkest winters, against the external forces and odds, people found ways to speak, and to be heard.
